SANTA FE, New Mexico – Opening March 1, 2019, an exhibition of floral works by esteemed American artists

“Modernist Bouquet: Contemporary and Historic Selections,” an exhibition of floral works by prized Southwestern artists, opens at The Owings Gallery on Palace on Friday, March 1, 2019.

Heralding the advent of spring, this exhibition showcases an array of works diverse in color, form, medium, and style. Juxtaposing superlative Puebloan pottery with Hispano chests and remarkable modernist oeuvres with contemporary experiments in neo-brutalism, the show exemplifies the remarkable diversity of the floral motif in American art over the past centuries.

The exhibition will be on view at The Owings Gallery on Palace through April 12, 2019 and can also be viewed in its entirety at www.owingsgallery.com. The works on display—many never before displayed at The Owings Gallery—constitute a sublime and variegated bouquet of striking colors, pleasing textures, sundry media, and multifarious visions.

Among the artists featured are Tony Abeyta, Jozef Bakos, Emil Bisttram, Howard Cook, Frank Croft, Marsden Hartley, William P. Henderson, Barbara Latham, John Marin, Carol Mothner, Willard Nash, Georgia O'Keeffe, Agnes Pelton, Ford Ruthling, and Sergio Tapia.
